HOMECOMING WEEKEND, NOV. 13-15, CLOSES UNDEFEATED ROCK-A-CHAW SEASON

Bringing to a close an undefeated football season, the Rock-A-Chaws celebrated Homecoming weekend, Nov. 13-15.

Gathering at the Stadium, the student body took part in the annual bon-fire pep-rally Friday, Nov. 13. Sponsored by the Student Council, the band and cheerleaders led the fans into the spirit of the evening.

Adding glamor to the evening was the "Miss Gulf Coast" Beauty pageant. It was a difficult decision on the part of the judges, among so many beauties, to award top honors to Tommy Gerlach, Miss Bay St. Louis.

Receiving honorable mention were: Miss Crowley, C.J. Guidry; Miss Sunshine, Steve Rizzo; Miss Venezuela, Richard Meaden; and Miss New Orleans, Anthony Silece.

Upsetting all predictions, the Freshmen were the victors in the inter-class tug-of-war competition.

Chris MacGowan led Tommy Gwin around the field in a symbolic skit titled "Rocks Capture Rebels".

Highlighting the evening was the lighting of the bon-fire at the stadium by Chris MacGowan, where a Notre Dame Rebel was burned in effigy.

Homecoming festivities continued Saturday afternoon, Nov. 14, with the annual Alumni meeting.

Newly elected officers are: Warren Carver, PRES; Curtis Matherne, 1st V.P. and John Egloff, 2nd V.P.

Elected members of the executive committee were Messrs. Lawrence Vallon, '31; Steve Wyatt, '64; Eugene Monti, '38; Alvin M. Genin, '29; Berchmans S. Wilbert, Sr., '23; William H. Foster, '31; A.J. Brady, '27; John Bopp, '33; James G. Riordan, '60; Earl Christenberry, Jr., '45; Gerard J. Black, '60; Luke Saucier, '31.

Escorting the queen, Miss Erin Heitzmann, and her court to the stadium, that evening, the homecoming motorcade left the SSC campus at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the homecoming court were:

Miss Princy Cook and Bill Delaune; Miss Jackie Kingston escorted by Jody Blanchard; Miss Jo Mary Artiques and John Parrott; Miss Ann Gottschalk and Chris MacGowan.

Miss Erin Heitzmann was escorted by Bart Carr.

Preceding the game, Mr. George Seuzeneau, presented Miss Heitzmann with a bouquet of roses.

Following the National anthem, the Rock-A-Chaws closed the season with a 6-6 tie against the Notre Dame Rebels of Biloxi.

The Rocks completely outplayed their opponent in the first half while leading 6-0.

The Rocks scored their touchdown on a beautifully executed pass play from Curtis Matherne to Rusty Judlin. The play covered about 70 yards.

The Rocks then held on to their lead till a few minutes left in the third quarter when Notre Dame scored.

The Rocks then held on for a tie the rest of the game. The Rocks during the course of the game had chances to break the game open but couldn't take advantage of them.

It was a good, hard fought game in which the

ON THE DOWNBEAT

Now that the football season is over the Band schedule has been changed.

Senior band will be from 2:50 to 3:30 Monday thru Thursday and the Junior Band will be from 8:25 to 9:05 on Tuesday and 3:30 to 4:00 on Thursday. The Junior Band is subject to possible changes.

There has been an increase in the trumpet section by the addition of Michael Campbell.

During the football season there were a few highlights. The SSC band combined with the Student Council to put on the Homecoming half-time show.

Pat Jefferson and Janice Beale demonstrated their fire act.

During the Homecoming halftime the Band featured "Cotton Candy" one of Al Hirt's well known pieces.

On November 11 the Band marched with the student body in the Veterans Day Parade.

Mr. Copley has formed a Junior Band. This group consists of the grammar school. Members are:

CLASSES ELECT OFFICERS

In the last issue of the Rock-A-Chaw we failed to make mention of the class officers of homeroom 7B. Brother Andries' class officers for the 64-65 school year are: President, Burnie Piazza; Vice-president, Gary Griffin; Secretary, Steve Trosclair; Treasurer, Steve Lafontaine.

ENTRE LOS LATINOS

Estimados companeros: aqui otra vez estamos para informarles en el mes de noviembre los eventos y aventuras entre nuestros companeros escolares que asisten a nuestro colegio.

De parte del periodico, les deseamos a todas y a todos que hayan gozado el Homecoming Dance y que hayan tenido suerte con sus companeras y companeros.

Cambiando de tema, felicitamos a Paul Wever por sus esfuerzos que hizo en tres anos para darle una buena reputacion al equipo de football de Stanislaus, siendo capitan del equipo en el presente ano.

Otro punto que hizo Paul este ano fue que nos llevo a una victoria durante todos los juegos del presente ano.

A otro companero nuestro, Rene Guas, lo felicitamos por su esfuerzo en el equipo, y lo deseamos que regrese con nosotros el ano entrante para que tenga oportunidad de estar en

CONFRATERNITY MEMBERS ADOPT DAILY SPIRITUAL PROGRAM

Under the direction of the senior officers, the Confraternity of the Sacred Heart began its 64-65 program.

Current officers for this year are: President, Frank Tugwell; Vice-president, Lenny Aucoin; Secretary, Murray Butler; Treasurer, John Parrott.

At the first meeting the individual spiritual program was presented to the members. This program requires Mass four times a week. This includes Sunday and the Mass on Friday which is attended by all boarders.

The members say also the daily rosary, make a daily visit to the Blessed Sacrament, and say their own daily morning and night prayers, other than those said in school.

All members will also read out of their meditation and spiritual reading books for five minutes each daily.

One of the projects of the Confraternity this year will be the installation of Catholic literature pamphlet racks in certain business establishments in the city.

Pamphlets have been obtained and the racks were made by Steve Attaya and Rick Larkin, members of the Confraternity.

The purpose of this project is the spreading of the teachings and doctrines of the Church to all.

This month, the month of the Holy Souls, all members were asked to remember the Holy Souls in their Masses and Communions and daily prayers.

They were also reminded that the Holy Souls are completely dependent on the generosity of the faithful on earth.

Eighth graders were permitted to join the Confraternity this year. These boys will be responsible for the same

Homecoming activities were completed with the victory dance in the SSC gym, Sunday evening.

Alumni, students and their dates danced to the music of Ernie K-Doe, the K-Doe Matadors; and Al White and the Hi-Liters.

During the evening, Miss Erin Heitzmann was officially crowned Homecoming Queen by Student Council President John Parrott.

Miss Heitzmann and the other young ladies of the court were presented with souvenir charm bracelets.

Under the direction of John Parrott, president, homecoming activities were carried out by Student Council Committee members Andre Robichaux, Chris MacGowan, Eddie Waitzman, Allan Sarrazat, and Tommy Gwin.

activities and projects as the high school members.

Among the year-long activities of the Confraternity are the placing of the monthly intention bulletin board reminders in the classrooms; the monthly holy hour of reparation; and placing flowers on the altar on First Friday.

The Confraternity considers the flowers to be a visible token of reparation to the Sacred Heart of Jesus for the abuse He receives in the Blessed Sacrament.

Membership in the Confraternity is limited to those who are interested and willing to perform extra sacrifices in view of their own spiritual goal.

CARDINALS FALL TO ROCKS

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws overcame a spirited band of Thibodaux College Cardinals and rowed to a convincing 31-6 win on October 9 in Thibodaux Stadium.

The Rocks were led by the offensive play of Rusty Judlin, Bobby Doskey, and Doc Rhodes.

Big plays of the game were a 65 yard run for a touchdown by Rusty Judlin and a 60 yard run off a punt for a touchdown by Bob Doskey.

Scoring also for the Rocks were Curtis Matherne and Doc Rhodes.

ROCKS CRUSH VIKINGS

The Rocks again rolled to a 32-6 win over the Immaculata Vikings on October 22 at S.S.C. The Rock-A-Chaws defense led by Malcolm Colon and Mike Andrews, completely bottled up the offense of the Vikings.

Bobby Doskey and Rusty Judlin both scored two touchdowns.

Quarterback Curtis Matherne fired two touchdown passes and called a good game for the Rocks.

ROCKS TAKE D'IBERVILLE

The Rocks rolled to their sixth straight win of the season with a 19-6 win over d'Iberville.

Rusty Judlin broke the ice for the Rocks with a 91 yard-punt return. Bud Antin then bulled his way 13 yards for a score.

The Rocks then scored in the final quarters with a touchdown on a 1 yard run by Boasberg.

ROCKS SPOIL VANCLEVE HOMECOMING

The Rocks behind the dazzling running of Bob Doskey and Curtis Matherne; and, the defensive playing of Larry Boudreaux, Paul Wever, and Malcolm Colon defeated the Van Cleve eleven at Van Cleve on November 6.

Bob Doskey broke the back of the Van Cleve team when he caught a pass on a "sleeper" play and scored.

The game was closer than the 32-7 score indicated.

The defense kept the Van Cleve offense at bay throughout the game except for a small drive for a touchdown after a blocked punt.

This game marked the comeback of Doc Rhodes after being injured with a broken nose.

ROCKS NO. 1

The Rocks were rated number one following the 32-7 win over Van Cleve in the independent standings in Mississippi.

The Rock-A-Chaws are rated over such schools as Notre Dame and Durrant. Much credit should be given to the team for a job well done.

J-V's CLOSE SEASON

During the 1964-65 football season, our Junior Varsity Rock-A-Chaws won one of six hard-fought games.

Leading the spirited attack in the backfield this year were: Meyers, Worrel, Espiau, and Soignet.

Passing and quarterbacking attacks were led by Clarke, Rhodes, and Spellman.

Also, two linemen who have done an outstanding job are D'Amico and Jim Black.

The Rock-A-Chaws met rugged competition playing such teams as: Harrison Central, once; D'Iberville, twice; Van Cleve, twice; and GCMA, twice.

Our Junior Varsity squad includes members of the eighth and ninth grades.

In the first part of the season, sophomores O'Leary, Saucier, Teal, Dileo and Christie were moved up to varsity positions.

Special credit and thanks go to Mr. Harriman Morgan and Cricket Bradford, coaches.

Other members of the Rock-A-Chaw roster are: John Heath, end; Wade Wiseman, tackle; Tommy Ryan, guard; Charlie Matherne, guard.

Bill Mashburn, center; Jerry L'Enfant, back; Bill Phillips, defensive tackle; and Robert Gessen at End.

THE PARLOUS PENCIL By Gary Granello (Part 1 of a continued short story)

Even a loose-fitting laboratory smock could not conceal Oscar's splendid physique. A side from his rather homely face he presented an enviable appearance.

Abruptly he arose from his desk and meandered across the spacious room, weaving in and out of a maze of electronic equipment, and laboratory benches, he won the suppressed admiration of every female lab technician in the room. After reaching the end of the room, he straightened his tie, opened a door lettered "President-of Electronics Dep't K53", and briskly walked in.

With the slam of the door excited sounds of female giggling and whispering ensued. Among all the excitement a thin man of about thirty scratched his balding head and grunted in disgust: "Must be buttering up the boss right now" he thought.

Through his thick tortoise shell glasses he peered across the room and saw Irene, a pretty blonde girl of about twenty-seven, gazing dreamily at the door through which Oscar had gone.

Angrily he knocked his metal nameplate off the desk and watched it bounce with a metallic clang, wobble over twice and lay on its side with the gold letters saying "Seymour Glick" staring him in the face.

Oscillating lazily in his chair, Seymour moodily reminisced various instances concerning Oscar which bolstered his acute hatred and contempt for him. Oscar always was getting promoted and congratulated solely on his ability to win the boss' favor while quiet-introvert Seymour went nowhere. After each victory Oscar would mockingly slap poor Seymour on the back and insist that he buckle down.

Irene, Seymour's ex-fiancee, was Oscar's present conquest. It seemed that Irene's feelings of affection were bending more and more toward the brawn of Oscar rather than the brain of Seymour. Seymour became more aware of Irene's thoughts as she continued to see less and less of him.

"This time he has gone too far," Seymour mused. "If only I could dispose of him some way." Suddenly the President's office door flew open and out strutted Oscar with a brown folder containing the reports of a top secret project. Grinning broadly, he nonchalantly ambled across the room in a leisurely fashion.

Just as he winked at Irene, Seymour raised his pencil, aimed down the shaft, and shot an imaginary death beam at the extrovert's black heart. He stared at it stupidly then began to wonder. "Why not?" he asked himself.

The raucous 5:30 whistle from a nearby factory interrupted him from his spectacular day dreaming. After arriving at his home in the suburbs that evening, he took a shower, ate a meager TV dinner, and collapsed in his favorite chair, with a good pipe and the evening paper.

The clock in the lab said 1:24 as Seymour flashed a small penlight across it. Reaching into his pocket, he brought out a ring of keys he had stolen from the office after work.

He fidgeted nervously with one key after another until one, after an eternity of waiting, fit. Quietly he opened the door and stealthily slinked in.

He immediately proceeded to the far corner of the lab where everything he wanted was located. After reaching an unlocked cabinet, he opened a large burlap bag and began to fill it with various apparatus and instruments. Cheerfully tying the sack secure, he chuckled at his cleverness. Turning about, he slung the bag over his shoulder and started out. Before he got three steps, however, a burly hand clutched his boney shoulder blade. (continued in next issue)
